NAGOYA UNIVERSITY OF COMMERCE & BUSINESS

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TEACHERS OF ENGLISH AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Keynote Speakers

Dr Gary Motteram

Gary Motteram has been working at the University of Manchester since 1985 and was responsible for setting up and running the original MA in Educational Technology and TESOL course. His main interests are in the uses of technology to support language learning and language teacher education and he has written in both of these areas. He is a long time member of IATEFL and is the coordinator of the committee of the Learning Technologies Special Interest Group. As well his regular MA teaching commitments, he also supervises research degrees in the areas of technology and language learning and technology and language teacher education. Gary is a regular keynote presenter at international events.

Pete Sharma

A graduate of the University of Cambridge, Pete started his EFL career as a business English teacher in Madrid, moving to Finland before returning to the UK. He worked as teacher trainer, Director of Studies and school manager before becoming the Group teacher training and development manager for Linguarama, a business English organisation which is now part of the Marcus Evans group. In his capacity as a member of the Group Pedagogical Unit he inspected schools, taught writing seminars in the Middle and Far East, and helped create and run trainer training courses. He has written extensively about technology in language teaching and is the author of Blended Learning and The Internet and Business English.
